How Jewish is Thanksgiving?

A message of gratitude from Rabbi Areyah Kaltmann

Our tradition teaches that gratitude is the cornerstone of all blessings. From the early pilgrims to the millions of our brothers and sisters who have been spared from an onslaught of missiles targeted at them - we are so thankful.

I have been blessed with gifts too numerous to count; my wife, Esther, our eight beautiful children, beloved friends, and all that Hashem has brought to my life. This year as I reflect on Thanksgiving, I am especially thankful for:

Our energetic, adorable preschoolers at our Gan Menacham Preschool that bless us with their smiles, laughter and joy of life each day.

The 2000 children that attend LifeTown each year. We are grateful to be a part of their lives and see their growth with each visit

The 350 LifeTown volunteers who give their time and talent to our beloved students. Our selfless volunteers are the heart of LifeTown. From Geno in the Huntington Bank, Lynne and Cody in the Marketplace, Sally in the Art Studio and so many others - they are what makes LifeTown the nurturing program that it is and we are so grateful.

For our active shul members who choose to worship, study, volunteer and celebrate together as part of our Chabad family. You are the building blocks of future generations of our vibrant community.

For the many big hearted donors who help build and support the programs we care so much about - our shul, LifeTown, Friendship Circle, Camp Gan Israel and Gan Menacham Preschool. It is because of your generosity that we are able to do what we do today. We are eternally grateful.

Our Friendship Circle teen and OSU volunteers who reach out and connect with special friends and make a difference in their lives. Whether they are doing yoga, art, basketball or cooking together - these teens make lifelong friends and bring smiles to their buddies' faces.

Our Friendship Circle families who embrace our program and see first-hand what a difference friendships make to us all.

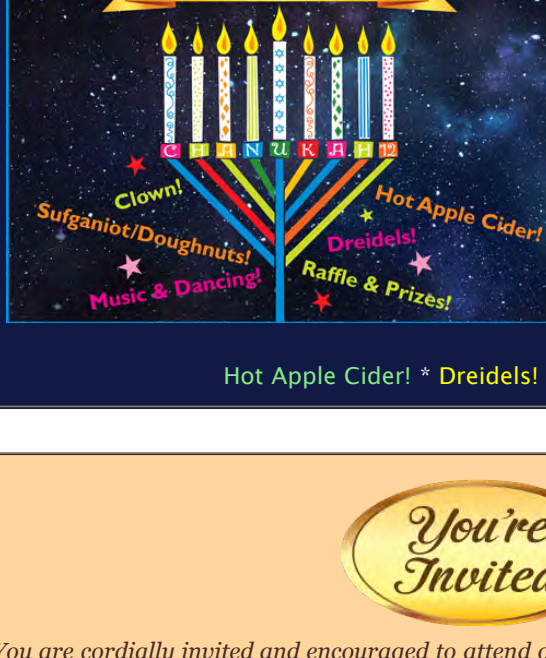

To Hashem who has given me so much goodness in the faces and hearts of all of you. I am grateful for each and every one of you and know that I am a better friend, better person and better rabbi because of what I have learned from each of you.

Happy Thanksgiving and may you have a meaningful day with those you love.

With much love and deep appreciation,

Areyah

This year's initiative will be to help members in our community who are recovering from illness. Their next event is the Challah sale (see below). Please contact Esther if you would like to join.

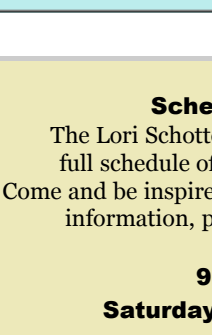

Esther led the first class of a new women's Kabbalah series to be held monthly on Tuesdays. The class had a great time discussing the first topic - the spiritual meaning of sleep and how it truly gives us new energy to make lasting change and new beginnings in our life - while enjoying a lovely lunch with friends. See below for future dates and topics. (Rosh Chodesh "It's About Time")
